

Counselling Skills Certificate - AE203

The SEG Awards Level 2 Award and Certificate in Counselling Skills are made up of credit rated units developed in association with Skills for Health, the Sector Skills Council for the Health and Social Care Sector, and awarding organisation partners.

This qualification is designed for those learners who have had no previous experience of using counselling skills.

The SEG Awards Level 2 Award and Certificate in Counselling Skills qualifications aim to enhance and improve verbal written communication skills, provide a basic understanding of what counselling is about and be able to compare and contrast counselling with other forms of helping activities, and introduce learners to experiential learning processes that will include a high element of personal growth work, developing further self-confidence and self-esteem.

COURSE DETAILS

The SEG Awards Level 2 Certificate in Counselling Skills qualification covers four topics looking at:

CSL3U1 — Understanding the Context for the use of Counselling Skills — This unit is intended to deepen the learners' understanding of the significant differences between a person who uses counselling skills in another occupation and a fully trained and qualified counsellor. Learners will explore key legal and ethical issues based on an ethical framework for counselling and psychotherapy in a multi-cultural and diverse society. The need for and the importance of casework supervision will be highlighted.

CSL3U2 — Understanding Counselling Theory — In this unit, learners will study one major therapeutic model of counselling in depth to empower the learner to reflect constructively on its value and use when working with people. They will also reflect on two other therapeutic models of counselling to raise awareness of other models.

CSL3U3 — Using Counselling Skills — Through practice, learners will explore a range of skills used within the counselling profession. Additionally, they will understand that sessions in which counselling skills are used are professionally managed activities with a start, middle and end. Cultural differences are recognised, acknowledged and worked with.

CSL3U4 — Personal Development for Users of Counselling Skills — In this unit, learners reflect on how the study of counselling theory, the use of counselling skills and feedback received can inform personal development and growth, in particular their understanding of self.
